

PRESS RELEASE

Evolutioneers GmbH launches the Service Station Management App

Hamburg, March 2021

Flexible, transparent, fast, and digital: The new Service Station Management App helps companies to manage service station networks efficiently and digitally. It offers an extensive analysis with a bird's eye view over current performances and functional KPIs on each level of the station network, and in addition detailed further information for all process stakeholders to collaborate. "Our efficient solution helps companies to manage their service station network at a glance. The various features of our app point out the potentials of digitalization and analyze e.g. turnovers, earnings, and losses for the whole network or in detail for a single station for all relevant products" states Torsten Peter (CEO) of Evolutioneers GmbH.

The Service Station Management App is based on market needs and fills existing white spaces for the management of service station networks. Various functions allow the control of the business at any time: current performances, earnings, losses, and profit overview for c-level executives as well as detailed contextual insights for all process stakeholders. Furthermore, the app delivers sales volumes, sales values, and margins and shows the current situation, comparative values – also to previous years' results – and a forecast into the future. A complete overview and detailed insights with all relevant facts and KPIs are offered on different detail levels for both the fuels and shop perspective ("wet & dry"). Available on all devices (desktop, tablet, and phone for iOS and Android) and for all stakeholders (headquarter, division manager, station manager, and leaseholder, etc.), the Service Station Management App enables companies to make decisions with confidence and to create new ways of working in distributed and changing user environments.

The Service Station Management App offers outstanding functions and analysis available on all devices. It supports the management team and all users – regardless of their location – in collaborating, discussing analysis, and highlighting key performance indicators and numbers online and visible for all participants. This simplifies the way of making decisions together and is an important step on the way to the digital transformation.

About Evolutioneers GmbH – Creating tomorrow's processes today

Evolutioneers uses the various possibilities of the digitalization, realizes solutions and process innovations for the digital transformation and thus creates added value. As SAP Silver Partner, the Germany-based company has access to all recent technologies and developments. Thanks to many years of industry and market expertise, Evolutioneers develops efficient process flows and can thereby meet the individual goals and requirements of its customers. Find out more: www.evolutioneers.com

Press Contact

Ann-Kristin Emden
+49 6151 159 12-35

emden@bauchgefuehl.com

Evolutioneers GmbH
info@evolutioneers.com